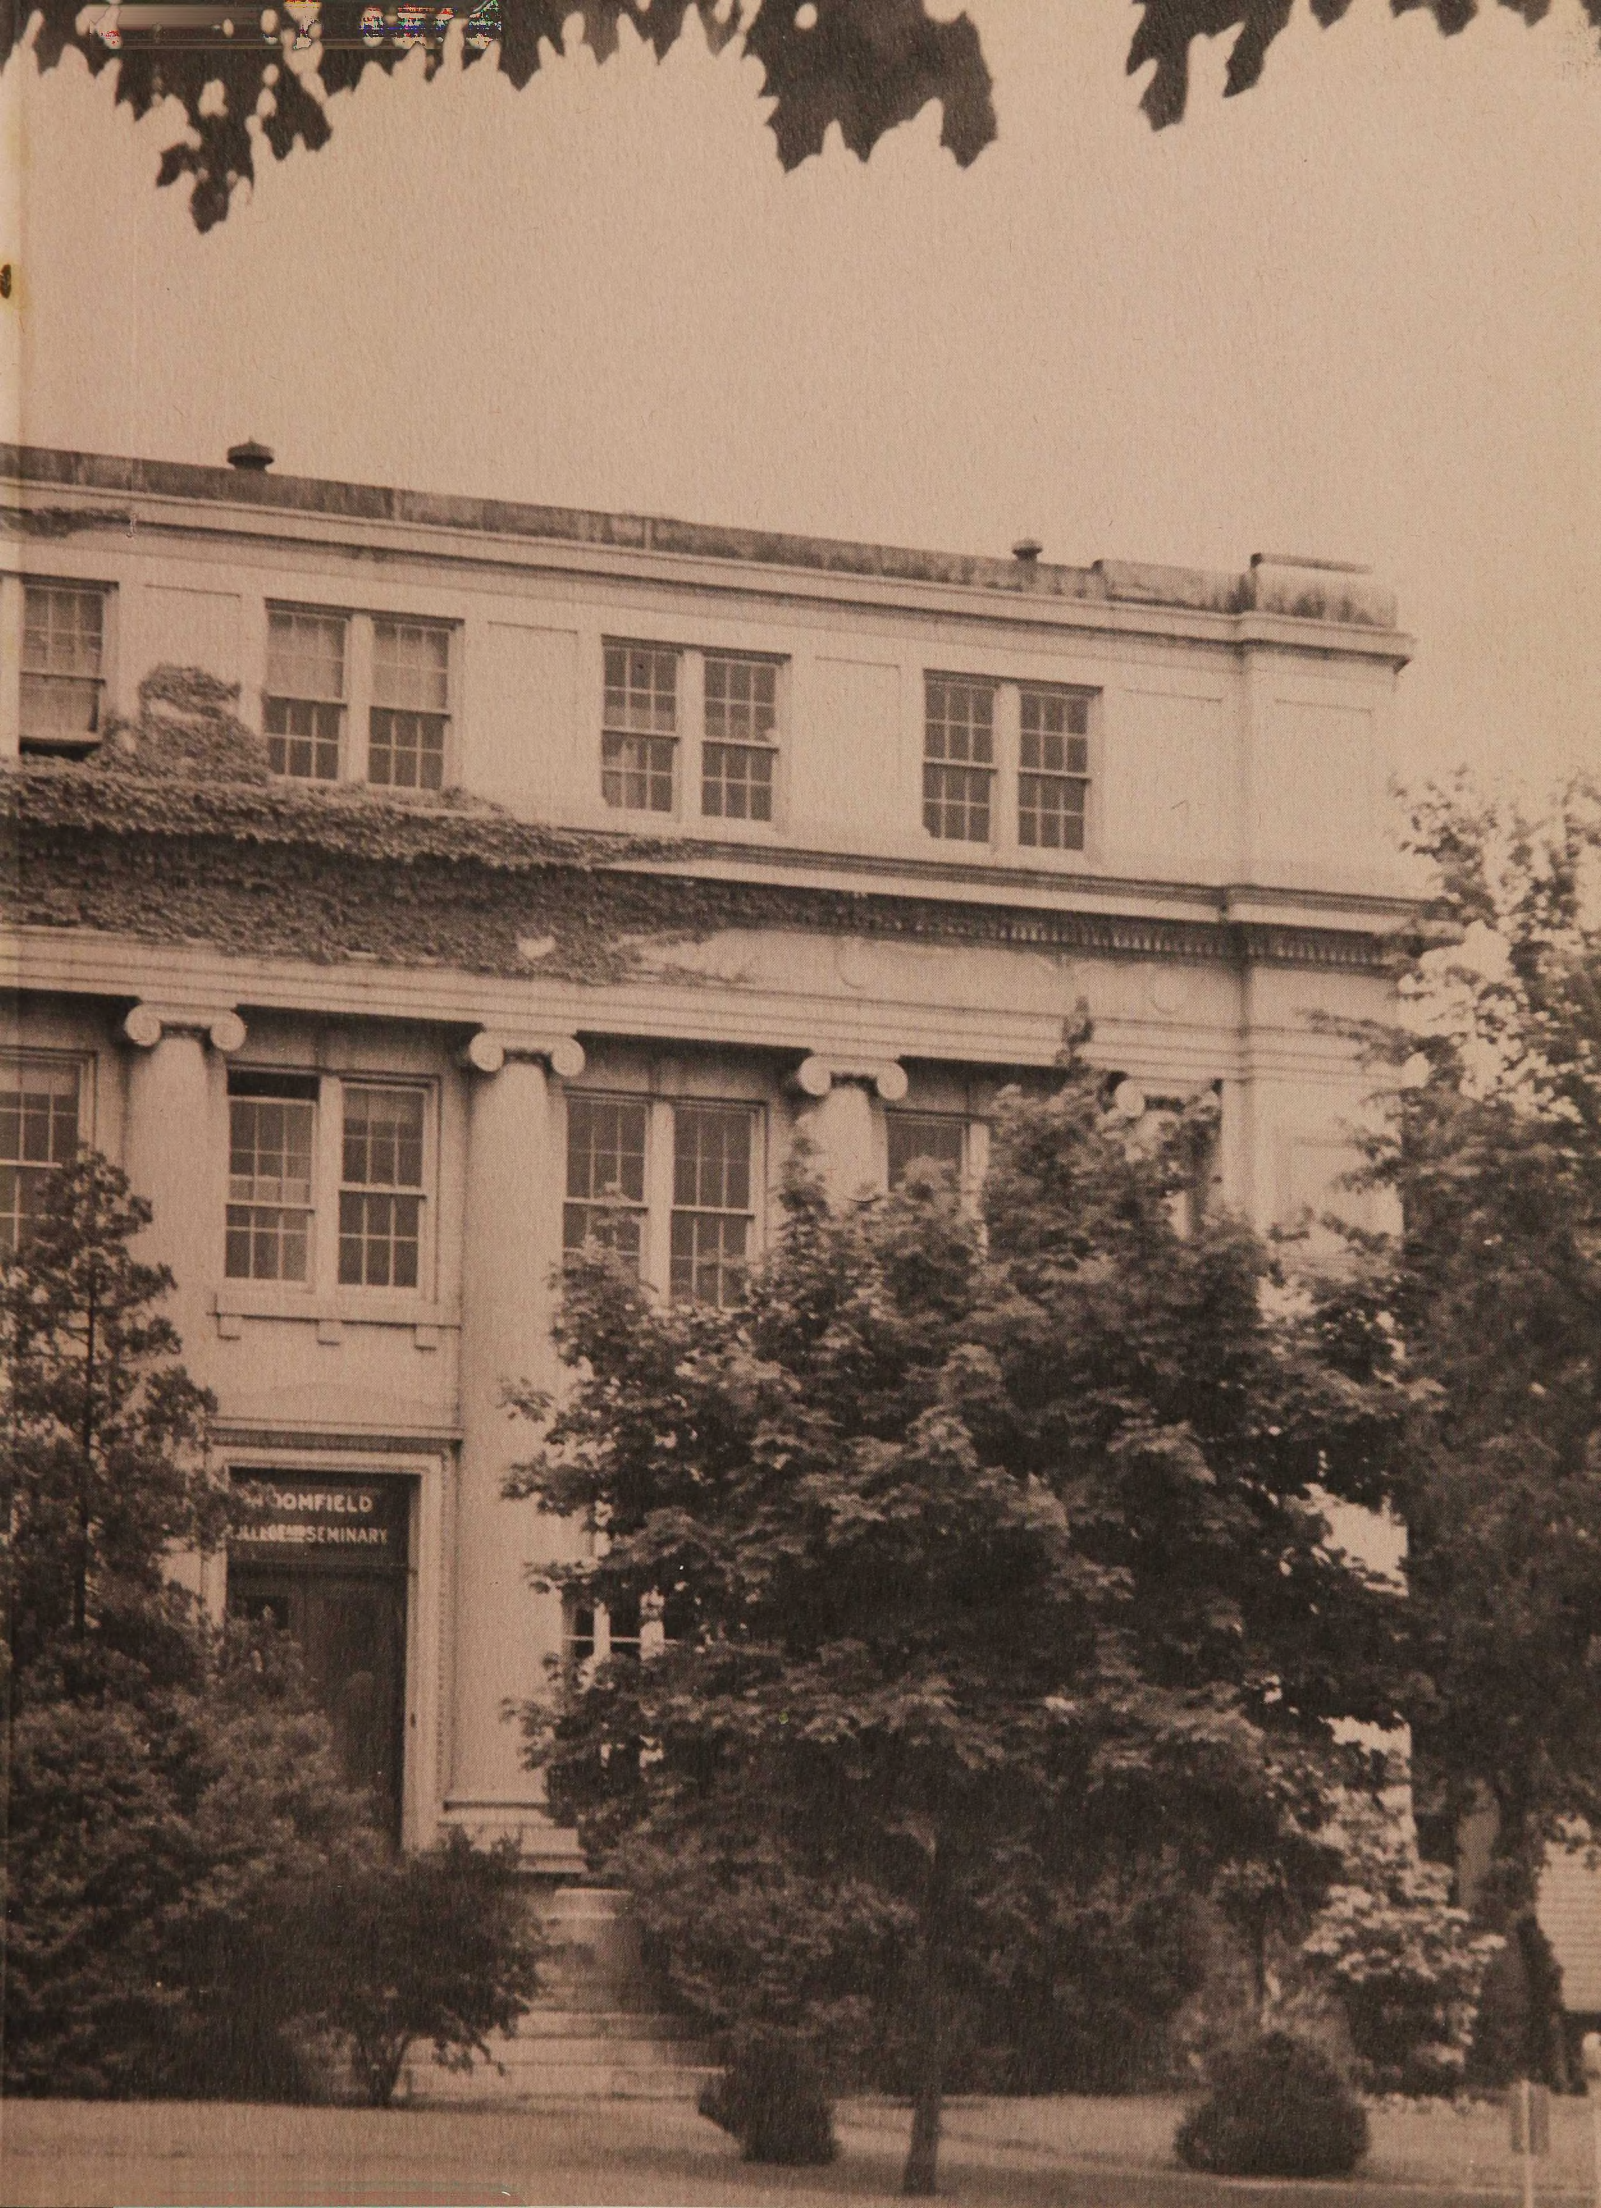
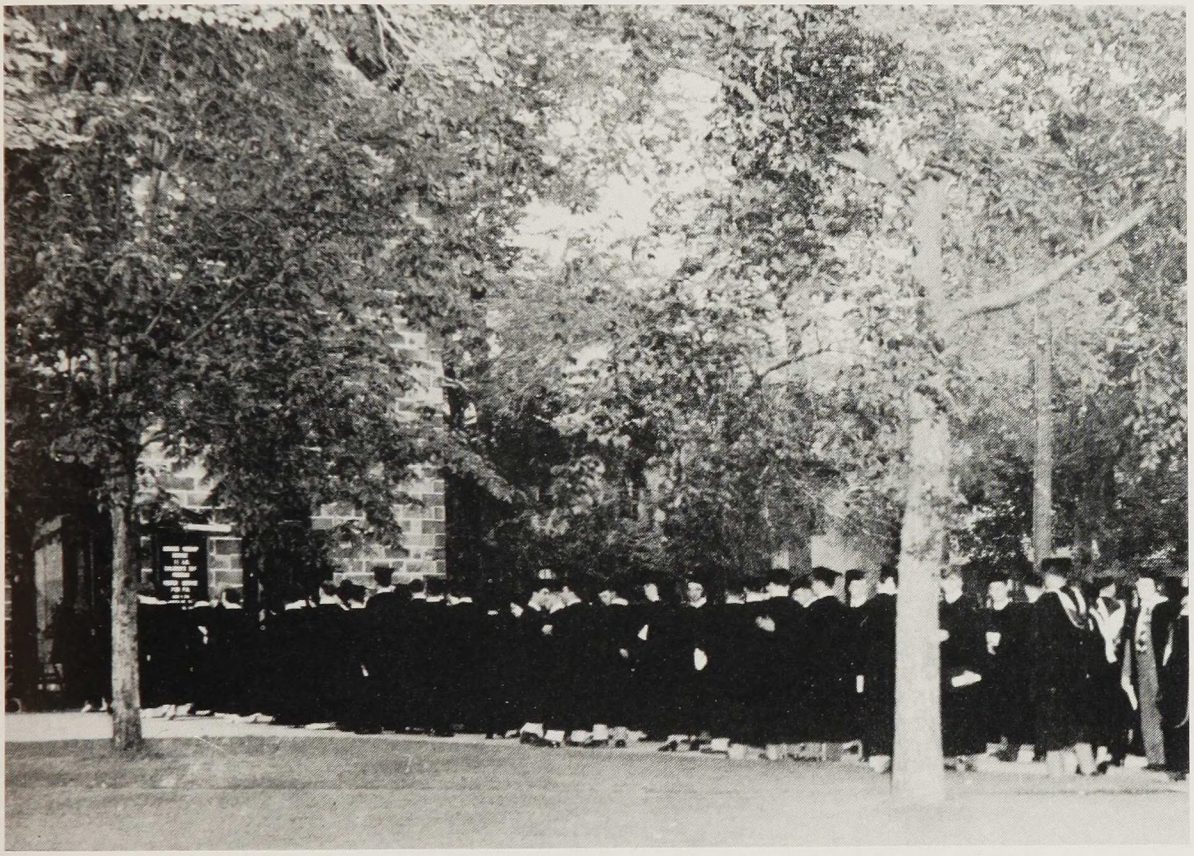
The Saga



OMFIELD
SEMINARY

The Senior Class presents the '53 Saga

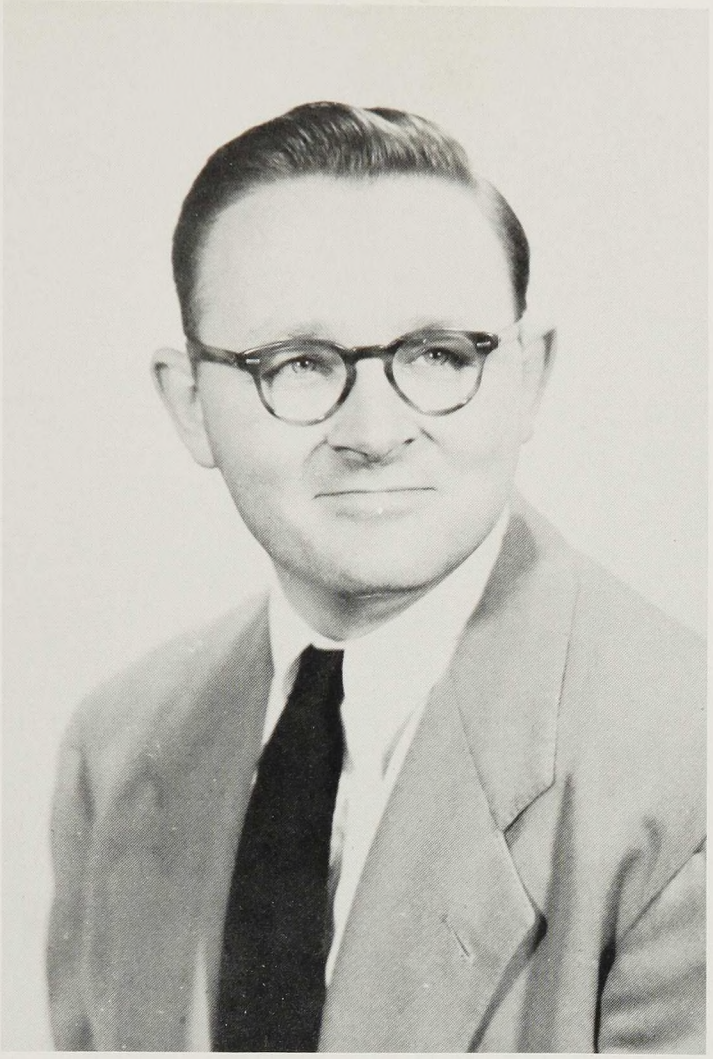


"Lux in tenebris . . . ."

Foreword

As we set out to relate our four years at Bloomfield College in this Saga, we remember them as four years of adventure and new experience. Not only in the realms of intellect and knowledge have we made this journey, but also in our social lives and spiritual realizations. The friends we have made here will be remembered for many years to come. In all our social experiences we have come to a fuller realization of the potentialities of our fellow-men and their importance in this world. But Christian fellowship alone has not brought us to the brink of the deeper things of the spirit. Our daily chapel services and the importance given to the Creator in all our studies has strengthened our spiritual lives as well as pointing us to the challenge of Christ.

This, then, is our Saga of four years' journey through college as we relate it in pictures and words, behind which each of us can recall to memory the varied experiences and peculiar events which highlighted our pilgrimage.



Dedication

Although he came to Bloomfield College at the beginning of our Sophomore year, we, the Class of '53, feel that Mr. Rodgers' influence has been so significant in our college experience that we remember him in this fashion.

Not only has he been our close friend and companion, but he has been an inspiration to the love of learning and fine scholarship above and beyond ordinary classroom work. He has challenged us to think for ourselves and to defend our opinions, demanding from us only intellectual honesty and a reasonable basis for our opinions. His sense of humor and warm sincerity are the outstanding attributes of his character.

It is a privilege for us to dedicate this yearbook to one who has taught us the real meaning of "student" and who has led us by his own clear insights onto new avenues of learning. Instructor in English, guide, and friend, Mr. Paul C. Rodgers truly deserves this honor we accord him.

Words of Farewell from Dr. Schweitzer

When you receive your diploma upon graduation, think of it as the symbol of expectation as well as of achievement. It does represent work accomplished but that work has been preparatory -- like the scaffold you saw around Seibert Hall. When you leave Bloomfield, the kind of person you turn out to be, the quality of the work you do, the place you take in the community -- these will be the realization of the expectation with which your family, our faculty and your associates watch you on your way through life. God give you the grace to measure up to the responsibilities your privileges entail.

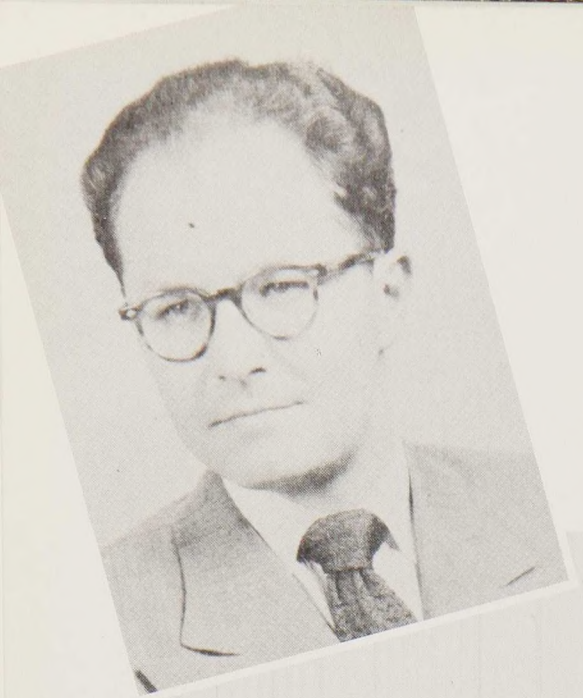
Saga Staff



Mr. Keith Eubank
Faculty Advisor

The most significant journalistic effort of the Senior Class has been the publication of this very book, the '53 Saga. Confronted with countless deadlines, appointments, and staff meetings, we have worked long and hard to make this the best yearbook ever published by any Senior Class of this institution. Our advisor, Dr. Eubank, has given us advice and help when we have needed it, but he is the first to admit this has been our project and our responsibility. We of the staff of this Saga earnestly hope that our labors have borne good fruit and that you, our fellow-classmates, fellow-students, faculty, and all who may glance at these pages may find continued and worth while pleasure from repeated perusal of this book.

Every few weeks during the school year a minor miracle occures - an issue of the Minuteman, our school newspaper, is published and distributed to the students, who then proceed to devour all the current events and interesting features of this publication. Just two years ago the size of this newspaper was doubled and with it the amount of work that goes into every issue was likewise doubled, but the recent staffs have proven their journalistic merits and we find the Minuteman emerging as a finer paper with each issue.

Here at Bloomfield, we have been privileged to speak and act as a student body through our own student association, known as the B.C.S.A. Its function is to approportion the activities fees, unite student interests, sponsor various social events, and form the political unit of the student body. During our Senior year, it has been led on to greater and more widespread service by our able president, Karl Ward, one of the most distinguished members of our own class. It has been through this organization and its activities that many of us have felt the first realizations of democratic responsibilities and privileges, the one going hand-in-hand with the other, truly a practical training for a useful and intelligent exercise of our duties as citizens of a great democratic nation.

Golden Deacons

Coach Robert Hughes

Capt. John LoGiudice

Sparked by Lonnie Jackson, Joe Clarizio, and Capt. Johnny LoGiudice, the Deacons fought their way to an impressive record of 11 wins and 4 loses up to February 1, 1953. With 12 games remaining the Deacons hope to finish with a record of 22 wins and 5 loses. The first part of the season was marked with many thrilling games, highlighted by a crushing overtime victory over Panzer College. A well deserved cheer can be given to Coach Bob Hughes for a wonderful job.

Track Star

Carl Quellmalz has earned for himself the title of Bloomfield's most outstanding athlete in track and cross-country meets. He is the holder of many titles and awards, among them the State cross-country title and the trophy for winning the 4.7 mile at the Le Moyne College Open Invitation meet held in Syracuse, N. Y.

Joy Aamot
Capt. of Cheerleaders

Cheerleaders

An incentive to expressing Bloomfield's school spirit is the cheerleading squad. At many of our sports events they have lifted despondent spirits and roused the team to renewed vigor and enthusiasm, and at the same time they have led Bloomfield rooters in cheering their team to victory. Their costumes and drills have contributed a bright note of color and gaiety to all the events in which they have participated.
